
REFLECTIVE VEST

These are mandatory in many countries, sometimes even for everyone in the vehicle. They'll be useless at the bottom of the luggage compartment, so be sure to keep them within reach.

NEXT SERVICE INSPECTION

Check the date and kilometres remaining before your next regular service inspection. You don't want to be worrying about it while travelling.

SET OF REPLACEMENT BULBS

You can't drive in the dark. In some countries these are even mandatory. If you don't feel up to changing them yourself, ŠKODA Assistance will help you free of charge.

TYRE PRESSURE

Tyres with too low or even too high pressure have a substantially negative impact on driving characteristics and occupant safety, and especially so when the car is fully loaded.

WARNING TRIANGLE

This is an absolute necessity and an integral part of a car's mandatory equipment. It must be placed where it is easily visible at a distance of at least 50 m behind the car (at least 100 m on a motorway).

FULLY FUNCTIONAL AIR CONDITIONING

Without your AC, you will get baked in the summer. It should be checked periodically by an expert. If necessary, the pollen filter should be replaced, the system disinfected, and the coolant refilled.

FIRST-AID KIT

Check its location in the car and expiration date. We hope you will never have to use it.

SUMMER WINDSCREEN WASHER FLUID

Good visibility is basic to safety, and that means you should keep the windscreen clean. A special summer washer fluid helps to remove insects more effectively, so don't forget to fill up the reservoir

EUROPEAN ACCIDENT REPORTING FORM

Although the official European accident reporting form is not part of the mandatory equipment, having it will substantially facilitate potential negotiations with insurance companies in the event of an accident.
